
September 1 2010

Academic Radio is a Journal of Academic News Academic Radio produces a weekly journal that provides views and commentary on selected summaries of academic research, programs and policy in the field of education. Our stories are written by people living extraordinary lives in and outside academia who carry with them an uncommon sense for creating knowledge. Our journal is created for syndication to radio stations and internet websites. Academic Radio also provides the Friends of Academic Radio with TANGO, a place for thinkers and doers, learners and scholars to expand and annotate the ideas and stories presented herein.

OUR INTERACTIVE FEATURES INCLUDE: in EXPOSE'

Here we present a few thoughtful visual cues that may give you insight into the passion, hope and challenges that confront us all.

in SALSA! Our ARC Blog always kicks up a little dust, raises the bar and sometimes sings a saucy song. As await your comments!

in AFTER HOURS

Our Webzine is always a visual presentation to spark talk and debate about promises made and promises kept.

The content placed on Academic Radio is protected by registered trademarks and copyrights. The web content, including our public radio podcasts, text, icons, pictures and videos are owned by ARC /or are presented with permission under specific licensing agreements with the authors and/or associations, businesses or institutions. You may use the knowledge presented here for noncommercial academic purposes only provided that an appropriate citation references Academic Radio. For more information concerning the enterprise of Academic Radio, please inquire through the Academic Radio Support window. Distributor & Publisher The Academic Radio Partnership LLC Chino Hills, California

Managing Partner

David Livingston Ph.D

All Rights Reserved 2010